Reinforcements On Way to the Pacific Theatre of Battle

General Wavell, Allied Generalissimo, Announces United States and Great Britain are Sending Help, While in Siege of Singapore Shells are Rained on Enemy

BOMBERS BLAST ANEW BESIEGED DEFENDERS

BY ROGER DE GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, Allied generalissimo, announced today that the United States and Britain were sending "great reinforcements" to the Far Pacific battle theater, while in the five-day-old siege of Singapore, British gunners rained shells into Japanese troops massed across the mile-wide Johore Strait.

"Our part is to gain time for great reinforcements which we and our American allies are sending to the eastern theater," Gen. Wavell said, in a special order of the day.

Gen. Wavell's heartening message was the second official word in 24 hours that mighty counter-blasts against Japan are soon to be struck by the United Nations.

Australia's army minister Francis M. Forde announced yesterday, without elaboration, that "a big Allied movement" is underway.

Gen. Wavell also declared that the Japanese "have now reached an area where we cannot be constantly out-flanked and where the enemy cannot exploit superior mobility."

Japanese bombers blasted anew at the beleaguered Singapore defenders, inflicting some damage but few military casualties, British headquarters reported.

Embers still smoldered in the wreckage from yesterday's aerial assault in which the toll was reported officially as 22 killed and 90 wounded. By nightfall, all but two fires were reported under control.

Today's communique tersely reported that there was "no change" in the five-day-old siege as reinforced British, Australian and Imperial Indian troops worked steadily to install and camouflage new

WPA SETTING UP A RESERVOIR OF JOBS

Harrisburg, Feb. 4.—(P)—Preparing for possible widespread unemployment following on the heels of industrial dislocations caused by the war, the WPA in Pennsylvania is setting up a reservoir of jobs for "two or three times the number of persons now on the rolls."

Col. O. K. Yeager, acting state administrator of the Work Projects Administration, said surveys are being made to provide projects.

Yeager said that in the past, WPA has taken on as much as one-fifth of the total number of unemployed, and he expressed confidence it could be done again in Pennsylvania.

Houck was arraigned yesterday and was held for court. He was returned to Clinton county jail, where he has been committed since his conviction on two similar charges in that county.

Charges in Centre county were aggravated assault and battery with intent to murder, aggravated assault and battery, and three charges of assault and battery.

MAJOR WITNESS AT SPY TRIAL IS YOUNG NAZI GIRL

Ring So Devoted to Work They Spent Leisure Hours Visiting Long Island Flying Fields and Airplane Factories

NAMED A CONSPIRATOR

New York, Feb. 4.—(P)—A pretty 18-year-old German-born blond, Lucy Boehmler, told a federal court jury today of her work as secretary to a man the government claims was head of a German spy ring operating in this country before the United States entered the war.

She worked, she said, for Ulrich Von Der Osten, alias Lopez, who U. S. Attorney Mathias P. Corcoran described as the ringleader of the alleged gang until he was killed by a taxi here last spring. After his death, Miss Boehmler testified at the espionage trial of six men and a woman, she worked for Kurt Frederick Ludwig, who took over Lopez's post.

New York, Feb. 4.—(P)—A story of a young Nazi spy who evaded in New York and so devoted to their work they spent even their leisure hours visiting Long Island flying fields and airplane factories was on federal court record today.

It came from Lucy Boehmler, a trim, 18-year-old German-born blonde, who was the government's first major witness as New York's second spy trial in six months began yesterday with six men and a woman charged with espionage.

Thirty-three men and women were sentenced to prison Jan. 2 after conviction as spies in the first trial.

Miss Boehmler, who pleaded guilty to an indictment returned Sept. 4 and is named in the present trial indictment only as a co-conspirator, testified that on one occasion she and some of the defendants toured Roosevelt and Mitchell Fields and the Grumman and Everts airplane factories "where we walked around and counted planes."

With her at the time, she said, were Kurt Frederick Ludwig, 38-year-old American-born son of German parents, who the government charges was the ringleader; Mrs. Helen Pauline Mayer, 26, another defendant; her husband, Walter Mayer, now in Germany; and Ulrich Von Der Osten.

U. S. Attorney Mathias P. Corcoran disclosed as the trial opened that Van Der Osten, whom he identified as a Gestapo agent traveling on a fake Spanish passport under the name of Lopez.

SURVIVOR IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Mother, Father and Four of Six Children Perish Early Today in Blaze That Destroys One-Story, Four-Room Frame Home at Turkey City, Venango County

ALL VICTIMS BELIEVED OVERCOME BY FUMES

Emlenton, Feb. 4.—(P)—Seven persons perished early today in a fire that destroyed their one-story, four-room frame home at Turkey City, near this Venango county community.

The victims were Harry Elder, 36, his wife, 35, their four children, Joan, 7, Margaret, 5, Donna, 3, and Mary, 2; and a niece of Mrs. Elder, Eloise McKains, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKains of Washington, Pa.

A son of the Elders, 14-year-old Ernest Elder, escaped by crawling through a window of the blazing structure. He was reported in a serious condition in an Oil City hospital.

Elder was a coal loader at the J. E. Holman mine at Foxburg. "Earl Garvis, 40, an employee of the Alum Rock Gas Company station, near the Elder home, discovered the flames and summoned a neighbor, Clarence A. Gardner. They reached the home in time to help Ernest through the window, but were beaten back by the flames and smoke in an attempt to aid the others.

FREIGHTER SUNK BY U-BOAT OFF ATLANTIC COAST

Lewes, Del., Feb. 4.—(P)—The freighter San Gil, owned by the United Fruit Company, was torpedoed and shelled by an enemy submarine off the Maryland coast at 11:50 o'clock last night with the loss of two lives. It was disclosed with the landing of survivors here today.

Thirty-nine other members of the crew and one passenger, Stewart Winslow Condon, 26, of Roslindale, Mass., an accountant for the fruit lines, were saved. Four of the crew were injured.

The ship was struck first by a torpedo on the port side, a navy spokesman said. The two missing members of the crew apparently were killed by an engine-room explosion.

The crew launched two lifeboats and the submarine then shelled the ship. All but about four of 15 shells hit the target, Captain Walter W. Koch, 44, of Canastota, N. Y., reported.

A second torpedo struck the ship as it sank by the stern. A coast guard cutter picked up the survivors after they had spent seven hours in the lifeboats.

San Bernardino, Calif., Feb. 4.—(P)—Mrs. Lillian Bell, frail and dark-haired, looked with bitter longing at a picture of her 6-year-old daughter, Shirley Marie, clad in a gay plaid suit and jaunty hat, and cried:

"Shirley was so gay, so sweet, so loving... and too trusting."

Too trusting... Shirley accepted a bicycle ride from a stranger as she started for school Monday.

Twenty-four hours later searchers discovered her raped body... Partially buried in wild and busy Lytle creek wash.

She had been strangled with her jumping rope... Footprints indicated she had fought her assailant.

County Autopsy Surgeon F. S. Small said Shirley had been raped. Officials questioned several men in their search for the killer, described as about 30 years old, dark

SPECIAL SUGAR STAMPS WILL BE REQUIRED SOON

Spokesman For Office Of Price Administration Discloses That Plans Are Being Made For Printing Booklets

12 OUNCES EACH WEEK

Washington, Feb. 4.—(P)—Special "sugar stamps" to be issued by the government to registered consumers, will be required before purchases can be made under the pending sugar rationing program, it was learned today.

Each stamp will permit an individual to buy 12 ounces of sugar—his weekly ration.

A spokesman for the Office of Price Administration disclosed that booklets containing enough stamps to last three months or more would be printed and that the time required for the printing would delay operation of the rationing machinery for at least another month.

It was reported that the plan contemplates registration of consumers by families, with stamp booklets to be issued to each member of the family regardless of age. However, no more than one stamp per person may be used each week. This would allow a family of three, for example, a weekly ration of 36 ounces of sugar.

The OPA spokesman said details of the registration requirements had not yet been worked out. Stamp booklets will be issued at the time of registration.

OPA said the rationing would be supervised by local boards, probably the same boards now

DAVIS WILLING TO BE CANDIDATE

Harrisburg, Feb. 4.—(P)—U. S. Senator James J. Davis says he'll accept the Republican nomination for governor, if it is tendered him.

The white-haired senator previously had paired questions on his possible candidacy for the Pennsylvania executive office.

EARLE REPORTS WAVE OF HATRED AGAINST HITLER

Former Governor of Pennsylvania in Washington For Conference, Declares Bulgaria is Pro-Russian

IS ANXIOUS TO ENLIST

Washington, Feb. 4.—(P)—George H. Earle, former United States minister to Bulgaria, said today that Bulgaria is so pro-Russian "there is no doubt whatever" that Bulgarian troops would have volunteered to go to Russia to fight alongside Germans.

"Never in all history," he said while here to report to Secretary of State Hull, "has there been such a tidal wave of hatred in Europe as now has welled up against the Germans."

Earle said he questioned whether Hitler had enough men to hold the lid on this cauldron of hatred very much longer.

The former Pennsylvania governor said he had been reliably informed that the Germans are so short of manpower that only boys under 15 and men over 75 are being used in such non-combatant duties as the customs service.

"However," he cautioned, "men can't fight the German war machine with their bare hands."

"Shocked and saddened beyond words" when the United States came into the war, Earle asserted, "they were absolutely heartbroken."

EPISCOPAL HOUSE OF BISHOPS IN SESSION

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 4.—(P)—Steps to raise the spiritual morale of the millions in the nation's armed forces were discussed today as the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church opened a two-day session here.

The theme of the meeting, attended by more than 80 bishops from all parts of the United States, was sounded by the Rt. Rev. Henry K. Sherrill of Massachusetts.

A "discretionary fund" of $385,000, which chaplains could use in aiding soldiers or sailors who encountered personal difficulties, is part of an army-navy program to be drafted during the session.

Chungking, China, Feb. 4.—(P)—"China will express her gratitude by hard fighting until victory is won," the China Times said today in comment on American moves toward lending China up to $500,000,000 and Britain's announced willingness to lend $50,000,000 ($200,000,000).

CHURCHILL CREATES A NEW POST

Minister of War Production, Assignment Aimed Specifically at Peak Co-Operation Between Britain and United States, is Entrusted to Lord Beaverbrook

PARALLELS OFFICE OF DONALD NELSON HERE

By the Associated Press

London, Feb. 4.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill created the new cabinet post of minister of war production today, an assignment aimed specifically at peak co-operation between Britain and the United States, and entrusted it to Lord Beaverbrook, one of his most valued aides.

The new ministry roughly parallels the office of Donald Nelson in directing the United States war production.

Making that comparison himself in the house of commons last week, Churchill said:

"All the resources of our two countries are now pooled in shipping, munitions and raw materials; and some similar office—I will not say with the same scope but with similar scope—must be created here if harmonious and complete working between Great Britain and the United States is maintained at this high level."

Lord Beaverbrook is succeeded as minister of supply by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, until now president of the board of trade.

Sir Rae is a British industrialist and a former minister of supply.

The assignments did not include Sir Stafford Cripps, former British ambassador to Moscow, who, it had been predicted, would be named to a cabinet post "which will come as a complete surprise."

Praising Lord Beaverbrook in his recent war review to parliament, Churchill reported:

"We are producing twice as many and far more complicated guns as we did in the peak of 1817 and 1918. Tank production had doubled in the past six months. In aircraft production there is a steady increase not only in the numbers but in the size and quality of aircraft."

HOUSE APPROVES LOAN TO CHINA

Washington, Feb. 4.—(P)—With little debate the house unanimously passed and sent to the senate today an authorization for a $500,000,000 appropriation to aid China.

The fund would be administered by Secretary Morgenthau at the direction of President Roosevelt.

Few members knew how the money would be spent and, because of the need for military secrecy, they accepted at face value statements by high-ranking administration leaders that this would be a psychological time to make available huge sums to help finance China's fight against Japan.

Chungking, China, Feb. 4.—(P)—"China will express her gratitude by hard fighting until victory is won," the China Times said today in comment on American moves toward lending China up to $500,000,000 and Britain's announced willingness to lend $50,000,000 ($200,000,000).

schedules depend on sunlight.

Some local railroad runs may be changed, on the clock, to keep them the same by the sun, because they serve a clientele governed by daylight.

Generally speaking, the transportation and radio industries propose to do nothing next Monday, except move their clocks and watches ahead one hour. They suggest that you do the same.

The new time, designated by President Roosevelt as "war-time," in place of the old "daylight saving," will be nation-wide, effective throughout the year until after the war.

Clocks Will Move Up Hour; Other Things Remain Same

BY JAMES J. STREIBIG
Washington, Feb. 4.—(P)—The clocks will move up an hour next Monday—but everything else will go on as before.

Unlike summer "daylight saving time"—when some cities have it and others don't—every railroad, bus line and radio station will be running on the same schedule after the national time shift as before. The only thing changed will be the relationship between your watch and the sun.

Transportation and radio officials said today they contemplated no changes in schedules beyond a few minor adjustments where

STATE AUDITORS ARE WORKING IN COUNTY OFFICES

State auditors have been working at the court house this week going over the books and records of the register and recorder's office, treasurer's office and prothonotary's office and it is expected that the final work on the 1941 Commonwealth audit will be completed here early next week.

Two auditors, John G. O'Connor and F. D. Kelly, have been working in the various offices here since Monday and two more, John D. Carlisle and William Quigley, are expected to arrive here the first of the week to help complete the work.

All of these men are working out of Harrisburg and are concerned only with the records of collections and disbursements regarding state transactions taken care of by Warren county offices. Examinations of accounts will cover business transacted from conclusion of earlier partial audits up to the end of last year.

Other counties to be examined are Blair, Butler, Greene, Mercer, Sullivan and York.

three in southern New Jersey across the Delaware river.

The stillness in mid-town Philadelphia during the 15-minute trial was startling. All subway and automotive traffic halted, blacked out and the only sounds were the "hey you, douse that cigarette" of the air raid wardens.

Mayor Bernard Samuel called the test 99 per cent effective, adding "if the defense plants had been under our control—and they will be soon—they would have been dark too."

That is a problem which must be solved, said Col. Augustine S. Janeway of the army's Third Corp Area, who felt some method must be worked out so they can go dark and still continue in operation.

Dr. Marts was "amazed to find that 2,000,000 people could give such effective cooperation, and was greatly pleased with the demonstration."

In Philadelphia and other portions of the area, however, it was discovered that the signals couldn't be heard by all. Many parts were a few minutes late turning out the lights because of it, and officials prepared for remedial steps.

The committee in charge, very much gratified at the results obtained, publicly thanks the many patrons and contributors whose support of the party made it the grand success it was.

ISSUES WARNING

The secretary of the Warren Chamber of Commerce today warned girls and women who are interested in training for nursing to beware of so-called "correspondence courses" and before sending any money to ascertain definitely that they are dealing with a reputable institution. Special notice has come from New York, he said, cautioning against an organization giving a Yonkers, N. Y., address. As usual, there will be many questionable persons and groups trying to profit from the patriotism of the citizens, it was stated. Therefore, all have been urged to heed the warning to investigate before they invest.

SYSTEM OF CONTROL SHOWN IN RESPONSE TO OPENING TWO-BID

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority

The opening bids and responses, together with slam bidding after a four no trump call, have been pretty well standardized into a

South 2♥ 4♥ 6♥ Opening—♠ A.	West 3♥ 5♥ Pass	North 3♥ 5♥ Pass	East 3♥ 5♥ Pass

to a system of slam bidding. In his system, the response to an opening two-bid is based on controls; in fact, all subsequent bids by the partner of the opening bidder must endeavor to show what the hand holds in first and second round controls, even third round if time permits.

After an opening bid of two of a suit, the responding hand must bid two no trump if he holds no ace. But he may jump to three no trump with one and one-half honor tricks but no ace. Likewise he may jump to four of the original suit with long strong support but no ace. With one or more aces, he must commence bidding the suits of the aces, starting with the ace of the opener's suit if he has it.

Today's hand shows how the Weiss system would handle a slam hand. North's response of three hearts shows the heart ace. North's raise of the second suit bid by South shows the king. That is all the information South needs to bid six hearts.

Notice that with his freak hand, South needs to know exactly what North's high cards are, because top clubs could not help his hand, and anything less than the ace in spades would be useless.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It was a bitter cold night, and as Robert Louis Stevenson would put it, snow fell over Manhattan with rigorous, relentless persistence.

Benny Goodman looked at his wristwatch and put in a call for the airport. He said some words into the mouthpiece, and seemed relieved at what he heard. Then he hung up.

"We're okay," he said. "We're fine."

Benny Goodman, the old swing king, sat back down and drained the last few drops of his coffee. His eyes moved to the stand where his boys were occupied with a thing called "Elmer's Tune," the swingiest melody in the swirling dance who were crowding the floor of the Terrace room of the Hotel New Yorker. It was exactly midnight. In three hours they would be packing their instruments and hurrying to a chartered plane that would take them to Cleveland. The Cleveland mission was not swing this time. It was Mozart.

THAT is one of the curious, revealing things about Benny Goodman. He wants to narrow the span between "popular" music and "good" music. That is why he makes sudden departures from the New Yorker on mid-night planes through snowstorms. He has played with symphonic orchestras in New York and in Chicago, Cleveland and Washington, and Philadelphia and Dayton.

How do a swing king and his swing men fit in with symphony men?

Easy as pie. The program is divided. On these occasions Benny plays a standard work for clarinet and orchestra. A favorite with him is a Mozart concerto. He is simply the soloist with the orchestra. Later in the program—with the symphony men looking on wide-eyed, Goodman tries out his sextet. The audience then is invited to leap into the aisles if they wish (they usually do) and interpret with their feet the rhythms which Goodman then produces.

IT'S six of one and a half a dozen of the other, the curiosity angle. Benny Goodman admits to an awe and a reverent regard for symphony men. And the symphonists themselves never saw anything quite like Benny Goodman, not in a Mozart atmosphere anyway.

On the side Benny is studying conducting. He thinks it takes two decades to get really good at it. He seeks a program of more and better music for clarinet. There's not nearly enough of it, he says.

When District Attorney Dewey ceased to function as such and closed his office the other day, every single member of his staff returned to the private practice of law—except one. This was Richard Korn, who has abandoned law for music. We take this opportunity to wish Mr. Korn well, but if he thinks he's getting away from racketeers just by getting out of a district attorney's office—well, wait till he gets a whiff of Broadway.

The original manuscript of John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" has been presented to the Library of Congress. It runs 750 pages and all the corrections are in Steinbeck's own hand.

CONSERVE BURLAP SACKS
"Use no hooks" is the theme of efforts being made by the Pennsylvania USDA State War Board to conserve the dwindling supply of burlap bags and cloth.

Imports of burlap from far-away India have been reduced to a trickle since Japan's sneak-attack in the Far East last month. Of that slight amount of burlap still being imported, two-thirds is being taken by the Government for military purposes.

James E. Walker, Chairman of the State USDA War Board urged farmers to make special efforts to extend the life of their burlap sacks "because there is no telling when they will be able to get any more." He added that "Farmers can save themselves a lot of agony by conserving the cloth they already have on hand."

The USDA State War Board is urging farmers to refrain from ripping their burlap sacks when opening them, to use no hooks, and to hang them in dry, protected places for later use.

Used bags can usually be sold to the dealers from which they were received.

DON'T WASTE SUGAR

Rationing would be farther away from the American people if they would by self-discipline eliminate waste. More than 2,500,000 pounds of sugar probably are wasted every year in New York City alone, estimates Health Commissioner Rice, by people who put too much in their tea or coffee and leave it undissolved in the bottom of the cup. In the entire country he believes that 50,000,000 pounds of sugar go down the drain by the same route each year.

Who will not control himself must be controlled. Rationing in many commodities can be prevented or at least postponed if people will exercise care and economy. Only by self-control can we avert the stringent controls that nobody wants and everybody fears. Dou your part.

Don't begin to worry now, but have you noticed there is a Friday the 13th in both this month and next?

Seems nice to have the mercury up around the twenties again!

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINETT

WASHINGTON—In spite of all the palaver over the Justice Roberts report on responsibility for the Pearl Harbor episode, one of the most significant phases of the report has been very lightly touched upon, namely:

If counter-espionage activities of the United States hadn't been hog-tied and hobbled by restrictions in the Federal Communications Act, there might well never have been any catastrophe at Pearl Harbor, no matter how derelict in duties were the commanders of the Army and Navy.

Let's examine the facts: (1)—Although it was considered positive by our counter-espionage agents there that Japanese consuls and other spies were sending information in code messages by commercial cable and wireless to Tokyo, the law forbade the Federal Bureau of Investigation or Army or Navy Intelligence from obtaining copies of these messages without a court order. To have obtained a court order would have been to bring our own efforts into the open and of course kill the goose that was laying those secret eggs. Attempts to circumvent that law met a legal stone wall.

(2)—Although telephone communications between Japan and Hawaii were maintained until AFTER the first blows were struck, it was impossible for the FBI, Army or Navy to tap the wires and make records of the many long distance calls that shuttled back and forth between Tokyo and Honolulu right up to the morning of December 7. Why? Because Congress last summer refused to pass a law to permit wire-tapping even in cases of counter-espionage—refused to pass it in spite of recommendations from the White House, the Army, Navy and Department of Justice.

AS a matter of fact, one such telephone message was intercepted about 24 hours before the first bombs fell. The conversation was about flowers, the beautiful weather and points of interest around the islands. Now, not even the most esthetic of us would be paying long distance tolls for a discourse so trivial as that. It probably was one of the hundreds of conversations that passed in code over public wires, with nobody able to do anything about it. There is a third phase of this counter-espionage activity that has nothing to do with the communications act. That is that there were known to be more than 200 Japanese consular agents in Hawaii and the Roberts report leaves no doubt that these made up an army of spies. The report also makes it clear that although wished to force these agents to register in compliance with the law passed for that very purpose, or arrest them, the Army command in Hawaii objected for fear of antagonizing the civilian Japanese population in the islands and precipitating trouble from Tokyo.

This then was the situation which led the Roberts report to conclude in effect that if there were Army and Navy Intelligence secrets in the islands that the Japanese didn't have and make use of in that vital zero hour on the morning of Dec. 7, it would be hard to discover what they were.

OUR counter-espionage set-up was this: In 1936, the FBI opened its first office in Hawaii, but was concerned then only with civilian matters. In 1938, the budget bureau uncovered some technicalities and the office had to be closed for lack of funds. It was reopened in 1939. In 1940, President Roosevelt ordered the FBI to take over counter-espionage and sabotage investigations but WITH complete cooperation with Army and Navy Intelligence. That is the way they were working in the islands in December, 1941, and there is NO indication in the published report that these agencies didn't do all that they could considering they were hamstrung by laws preventing access to their most important sources of information.

In the House of Representatives the other day, Rep. Emanuel Celler, of Brooklyn, taking more cognizance of this phase of the Roberts report than most did, introduced a bill to permit these agencies to tap wires and cables in counter-espionage cases.

DANGEROUS BAGGAGE

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter Seven

On the Terrace

"WHAT will you have, Stafford?" Mr. Goodwin asked as, a moment later, Tom and the Countess joined them.

The sturdy man's drink for the sturdy masculine Tom, Sharon found herself thinking. Quite a new angle for an undercover agent to take, Mr. Goodwin was clever to have penetrated this college graduate approach so quickly. But Harvey Goodwin could outwit Tom with his eyes blindfolded, she thought proudly. She'd never known a man so absolutely the master of any situation.

Even here, she glanced around her friends gathered in, his drawing room—people who in themselves were a compliment to his good taste, his charming personality—even among this distinguished company, Goodwin was outstanding.

Glancing at him, she found his eyes on her and flushed, hoping her face hadn't betrayed her thoughts. And then, woman-fashion, wished they had. Surely some day he'd know how much she admired him—if he didn't know it already. Admired and was just a little afraid of him too. Afraid that those dark eyes of his would find her lacking, uncover her inexperience.

"Harvey, darling," the Countess was saying when Sharon's thoughts came back to the conversation. "Since Mr. Stafford is such an ardent duck hunter, why don't you show him your gun collection?"

"I'd like to very much," Goodwin replied eagerly. "It's an old hobby of mine—picking up old firearms. If you'd really be interested—"

"I would, very much," Tom assured him. "But—" he hesitated, turned toward Sharon and the Countess.

"Oh, you're excused," the Countess laughed graciously. "Nothing would bore me more. I'm frightened to death of guns."

Goodwin smiled. "She is, at that. Even an old musket that has to be loaded from a powder horn unnerves her. Take Miss Doyle out onto the terrace, why don't you Edda? She's never seen that view."

The Countess turned that lovely smile toward Sharon and once again Sharon was aware of veiled antagonism. "I'd be charmed."

Probably she was only being overly sensitive, Sharon told herself as she followed the Countess out onto the shadowed, flagstoned terrace. It was all so new, so terribly exciting. And the Countess had been so clever in helping Mr. Goodwin carry Tom off to his study for a little private interview. Not that Tom, who knew he was being interviewed!

The Countess stood now against a brick wall, her beautiful dark head thrown back as she gazed out across the bay. Her sleek black hair was pulled back, Madonna fashion, into a smooth knot at the nape of her neck. Outlined by the light behind her, her profile was cameo fine, delicate. She was very beautiful, Sharon thought. Beautiful and clever and—with a little pang—a perfect match for Harvey Goodwin.

Suddenly, Sharon was conscious that the Countess had not spoken. Her heart racing, she tried to put a label on the little fears that rushed at her out of the strange silence. When the Countess' voice finally broke that silence, the words came, carefully low, steel-cold.

"I think we were not noticed," she said, glancing toward the lighted drawing room. "I think we are not overheard. So listen carefully. This evening, Mr. Goodwin gave me an important document. A very important document. It contained information so vital that should it fall into enemy hands—we are ruined. Unfortunately, that document has been—shall we say—misplaced. It must be found. I have reason to believe it was dropped accidentally here on the terrace. You are to search here until you find it. Do you understand?"

Chilled by the tone of the Countess' command, she stood numb for a moment, trying to believe her ears weren't deceiving her.

"I—I am to find—"

"The document is contained in a long blue envelope," the Countess went on relentlessly. "I must not stay here lest someone observe and wonder about my absence. You will not be missed—at least for the present. Harvey will keep your friend occupied. But you must be quick. And the letter must be found!"

"I'll try," Sharon whispered.

But the Countess had turned away, was moving serenely back to the drawing room. Sharon's glimpse of her as she stepped into the room caught the Countess' lovely smile, tranquil as if nothing had happened.

Just what, Sharon thought wildly, was it all about? Why should she be held responsible for something the Countess had "misplaced"? And who would notice or care that the Countess lingered on the terrace? More than that—she looked nervous about the deeply shadowed roof garden—where should she begin to look for a long blue envelope?

Found

The wind from the bay tugged at Sharon's hair, laid chilly fingers against her cheek. But the shiver that raced through her body was less from the cold than from a strange premonition of danger. The terrace, only half-lighted by the open windows, was fringed by deep shadows of the potted trees, the thick shrubs. There were hundreds of places a letter might lie unseen. Surely the Countess couldn't really expect her to find it now—in the dark.

And several times, Sharon gave up the search only to try once more. It seemed so hopeless a task, so much as if the Countess had deliberately imposed it out of some unreasonable motive of her own. Still, if the letter really were important, Sharon must do her best to find it.

When her fingers finally did close over a bulky paper package, it was sheerly by accident. Stumbling in the dark, Sharon had tripped over a low cocktail table, clutched vainly at a sagging ing her own clumsiness. Sharon set there a moment, rubbing her bumped knee. Then as she reached up to the heavy jardiniere beside her to pull herself up, her hand closed over the envelope.

Trembling, Sharon scrambled to her feet, studied the long packet carefully in the half light. There was no doubt. This was the long blue envelope. And it had never been "misplaced" in that jardiniere. You didn't mislay important papers in the most inaccessible place you could find, Sharon decided, and rubbed her skin reminiscently.

She must find a way to get this to Harvey Goodwin at once. Turning, she became aware that someone stood just behind her. "Oh!" the gasp escaped as she whirled to face the shadowy figure.

"What in the devil are you doing out here all by yourself?" It was Tom! Holding the fateful envelope behind her she let it slip to the floor, contrived to push it under a bench with the toe of her slipper.

"Just—just hunting for my bag," she fibbed, praying he hadn't heard that faint whisper as the envelope hit the stone floor, further from the danger point, she pretended to search the cushioned chairs, the parapet where she and the Countess had stood. I had it when I came out—or at least I thought I did—" she chattered on, desperately.

Just how long had he been standing there? Had he seen her self as she followed the Countess out onto the shadowed, flagstoned terrace. It was all so new, so terribly exciting. And the Countess had been so clever in helping Mr. Goodwin carry Tom off to his study for a little private interview. Not that Tom, who knew he was being interviewed!

The Countess stood now against a brick wall, her beautiful dark head thrown back as she gazed out across the bay. The wind from the bay tugged at Sharon's hair, laid chilly fingers against her cheek. But the TOM looked at her sharply. "If you had it when you came out here, you'd remember wouldn't you?"

"Well—yes. Maybe. I mean, I don't know," Sharon stammered. "I'm so scatter-brain tonight. I can't remember anything." She tried to hide her confusion behind a laugh. "I'd lose my head, I guess, if I weren't attached."

Sharon smiled, pulled her arm through his as they went back into the drawing room. "Just don't go losing your heart around here," he teased. "I'm just warning you."

Back on safe ground, Sharon smiled archly. "I'm sure I don't know what you're talking about."

"I wish I could believe that. Now go see if your bag's safe," he suggested.

Grateful for the ready-made excuse to get away for a moment, Sharon nodded. "All right. Since you're so distressed about it."

Outside the door of the guest room, she hesitated, looked back to be sure Tom could not see her. Satisfied she fled on down the hall trying to guess which door might be the one to Harvey's study. Then, through a half-opened door, she heard his voice.

A lovely book-lined room full of deep, inviting leather chairs, a broad desk, a carved cabinet full of guns. And Harvey, at his desk, speaking into the telephone.

He smiled as she came in, motioned to her to sit down. Then, when he'd put down the phone, "Having a good time?"

That brought her back to her errand instantly.

"Listen, please," and pushed away from him a little. "I found the blue envelope. It hadn't been misplaced, I'm sure. I couldn't bring it in. Tom found me. I dropped it under the bench. But I know exactly where it is."

Harvey Goodwin's smile vanished.

"What are you talking about?"

Startled, she stared at him a moment. "But—don't you know?"

And then swiftly she repeated her conversation with the Countess.

"Good work, Sharon," Goodwin congratulated her.

RED CROSS, DRAGONS BENEFIT AS CHAMPS FALL 38 TO 29

Veterans Give Outstanding Ball Handling Performance; Fail to Locate Bull's-Eye

Though at times they were completely bedeviled by the passwork of the veteran 1937-38 Champions, the Warren High Dragons applied their condition and sharp-shooting to the cause to win a 38-29 decision last night on Beatty Johnson in the published Red Cross benefit game.

What sports fans pondered over before deciding it could or couldn't be done, was done by the Blue and White schoolboys as they played a ball, took advantage of minute but disastrous mistakes on the part of the Champions, and also of the extra speed harnessed by the Dragons themselves, to come home several lengths ahead of the once great Kolpien court machine.

With a starting lineup of Bob Traub, "Tink" Wolfe, Springs Langust, Willard Zerbe and Art McKeehan, the 1937-38 outfit gave an exceptional demonstration of ball handling which pleased a crowd, disappointing in size, but appreciative in judgment.

GOOD CONTRIBUTION
Receipts from last night's Warren high school—1937-38 Champions basketball game, played as a Red Cross benefit, netted $82.35 for the fund, and this amount will be turned over to the organization immediately.

Highlights Taken From Last Night's Red Cross Fracas

Weakness from the firing line cost the decision for the former Dragon wonder team, and their scheme to let things slide till the last quarter, then opened up and pulled the contest from the bag, backward in their faces, as they slipped in the third stanza to fall away back at a margin of 25-14, going into the stretch.

However, the brilliant passing came into its own for a few brief moments in the fourth quarter, gave fans more thrills per second than have they seen at anytime, before this season, as the Champions changed the count to a scant 30-24 margin and seemed ready to come home ahead. But, steady themselves and accepting a little horseplay as a break, the current crop of Kolpienmen blasted any hopes as they rapped on the basket connecting for four goals while the losers could manage only two, and a foul.

Nelson got in close to score on a peep shot for the Dragons, Smith tossed one from the post side just outside the foul circle, and Jim Urbanski sounded the death knell as he found the target, and rang the bell from midcourt.

Tink Wolfe then resumed scoring activities for the Champs, scoring a circus shot under the hoop, and after Smith ended the Dragon point-getting, Traub found the bucket and received a foul shot, which he made to close the books for the evening.

The game was a good one from the start, filled with thrills that kept the fans interested throughout, and the Dragons can feel justly proud of winning the decision. Both outfits deserve orchids for the gallant fight they put up to aid the American Red Cross, recipients of the net game receipts from last night's brawl.

PATTERSONS IN LOOP WIN OVER ROCK CLEANERS

The Pattersons, showing more punch than they have in their last five contests, swamped the Rock Cleaners, who beat them out of the first half championship only a week ago, last night in the "Y" court in their first start in the Class A League second half. The score was 46-29.

From the start the Cleaners were outclassed completely, the winners taking command at 18-5 in the first quarter, extending the margin to 30-15 by half-time.

Slumping in the third stanza, the winners slowed down and held a margin of 33-26 going into the final heat. But in the fourth session, the winners outscored their opponents by ten points, 13-3, to win going away.

Jack Zerbe and Johnny Pick led the Pattersons with 13 and 12 points respectively, while Johnny Pawk topped the losers with 10.

In a Class B league go preceding the Patterson victory, the White Horses slipped by the New Process by a count of 28-25, Carlson leading the winning attack with 13 points.

DRUM BEATERS WARMING UP PUBLICITY STICKS FOR 68TH KENTUCKY DERBY TO BE RUN IN MAY; SEVEN GOOD CLASHES ON 2ND HALF LOOP MENU

Not too long from now, regardless of what the groundhog happened to see yesterday, the sons and steeds of the turf will be winding up preparations for the biggest and most famous race of the summer season, the Kentucky Derby, so it's only right, we feel, that we start looking back on some of the statistics and give you some of the low-down occasionally on the greatest of all horse races. Six hundred seventy-eight horses have run in the 67 Kentucky Derbies since 1875, an average of slightly better than 10 per Derby, with the largest field having been 22 in 1928, the smallest three, in 1892 and also in 1905. Sludgy tracks accounted for the diminutive fields, causing several withdrawals, though the largest field ran in a sea of mud also. No gray-coated horse ever has won the Derby, which isn't surprising because there have been very few grays through the years. Bay horses have dominated the victory column with 31 wins; chestnuts have 22; browns 10; and blacks only four. Record wagering on any single Derby was made in 1926, when $694,870 passed through the hands of horse players. Last time it reached the figure, though it has seven times in history, was in 1941, the first time since 1926. Gold Sockey, who went to the post in 1936, was the last to be entered in the race, and she finished ninth. There's a lot of other information which we can give you, and will later on, so keep watching.

Beginning with the Friday night skirmishes, 28 more Northern League contests are before the public prior to pulling the curtain on this season's scholastic cage drama, but of the whole mess, we have been able to pick out only seven that shape up as really evenly matched, and that should pay the public off in full. St. Marys at Kane and Warren at Sheffield Friday evening start off the list, but the following Tuesday's card is mediocre, though Johnsonburg may be able to put up a fight of some sort locally. A week from this Friday Kane and Bradford mix on the Oval court, and the improved Wolves may make trouble for the Bracemans. On February 20, another Friday evening date, Kane at Johnsonburg and Sheffield at Bradford aim to please the customers with real tussles, and then on the following Friday evening, when the loop winds up, Ridgway and St. Marys, who played a 29-27 game going to the Dutchmen at Ridgway, tangle in the last spotlight hoarder of the campaign, according to the form sheet. Of course, up-sets and off-nights may provide several close games, but these are merely the ones that should be exciting and up and luck, and possibly they won't be. Nice of the schedule makers to plan them all for Friday nights, however.

So They Tell Us... We've obtained the address of Jerry Giegerich, still Warren baseball player who played in the Canadian-American league last summer, so now in case any of his many local friends would like to send him a letter before the new diamond campaign starts, you can reach him at Alexandria, Va., R. D. No. 4. Little late to think of this, but they've always been talking about June in January and last month was the first time we ever realized what the groundhog went. There are several Warrenites who weren't sorry the groundhog went back in his hole—the many skidders and actors who've been waiting for an even break this winter. Jack Wilson, the Pittsburgh colored boy who had to go to the west coast to bring home the bacon in the form of the N. B. A. featherweight title, will fight for the first time since 1939 in Pittsburgh next Monday night, taking on Al Weill's up and coming youngster, Jimmy Hatcher, in one of the feature bouts on the Infantile Paralysis Fund show down in the Smoky City. There were three overtime contests in the first half of the Northern League, and Warren was involved in one with Johnsonburg. The others were Ridgway at Kane, the Wolves winning by a lone point, and St. Marys at Ridgway last Friday, the Dutchmen cashing in 29-27.

PEPPERY BILLY CONN 'HUNTING' FOR TONY ZALE

New York, Feb. 4.—(P.)—Even the phone bell sounded peevish, and the operator barely cleared "Pittsburgh calling" before a snarl chased her off the line. It might have been a slightly angry dog, only you know dogs didn't make calls from Pittsburgh.

"Hey," the voice heaved. "This is Billy Conn, and I wanna announce something. I see by the papers where Tony Zale says he's gonna punch me all over the ring in Madison Square Garden Feb. 13. Well, the first time I see that, I'm gonna walk up and knock his ears off. And you can tell him so."

This was definite not Sweet William, the Smokytown pretty boy. It was more like the fierce flailer of the second Fred Apostoli fight, a couple years back. Or maybe the cold-blooded hot-head who tossed the heavyweight championship away one night last summer because he wanted to slug it out with Joe Louis. Something, no doubt, had riled him.

"You can tell him for me," he went on, "that he's gonna be the first fighter ever to get hit before he gets in the ring. I'm leaving for New York to start training for the fight right now. Only there ain't gonna be a fight if I catch up with that blow-hard. At least there won't be a fight in the Garden. He won't be able to make it."

Which is just what Manager Johnny Barry, the little guy who is practicing to be a half-pint, said when he grabbed the phone from raving Willy. "Y'know, I can't do anything with that Billy," he explained.

Gary, Ind., Feb. 4.—Tony Zale, given a 1-B classification in July because he was 28 years old, will become eligible for Army induction late this month, a member of his draft board said today.

Friends of the middleweight champion indicated, however, Zale might enlist in the Navy after his 12-round heavyweight match with Billy Conn Feb. 13 in New York.

PLEASANTVILLE Washington Allowed to Play SWAMPED 35-14 21 Games Under Lights; Rest AT YOUNGSHIRE Of Teams to Play Up to 14

Like a see-saw with one end down all the time, the Youngsville Eagles last night had things pretty much their own way throughout the ball game in winning a simple decision over Pleasantville on the Red and White court by a count of 35-14.

Faced by Dave Clark, who played at center for the Stockdale charges and caged 11 markers, the Eagles used 13 men in limiting their opponents to four goals and six foul points over the route.

With a 13-1 margin at the end of the quarter, Coach Harry Stockdale freely substituted his yamigans and even the scrubs outplayed the visitors.

Friday night, however, the Eagles met up with the tough Crabtree high cagers on the Youngsville hardwood in a Tri-County loop fracas.

Promoter Forced to Cancel Fight Card

Detroit, Feb. 4.—(P.) Promoter Scotty Monteth's boxing show didn't come off as scheduled last night.

First, "Two-Ton" Tony Cita of Pittsburgh, who was to have substituted for Harry Feinstein of Cleveland in a 10-round heavyweight bout against Frankie Zarbis, said he wasn't in condition to trade punches with the Orange, N. J., brawler.

Next, Frankie Marr, Pittsburgh welterweight, reported at 164 pounds, 19 over the limit, for his 10-round bout with Harvey Rubs of Windsor and the match was cancelled.

Finally, Frankie McBride of Chicago, who was to have met Odell Riley of Detroit in a six-round light heavyweight setto, reported his ribs were sore. The bout was called off.

Monteth then gave up. Three other matches had been scheduled, but they were cancelled.

ABERDEEN CAGE SOLDIERS SHOW STRONG OUTFIT

Pittsburgh, Feb. 3.—(P.)—Proof that Uncle Sam's soldier contingents can collect some formidable athletic opposition for college teams was given here last night when a squad of only seven basketball stars representing the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds held the powerful Duquesne Dukes on equal terms for three periods, then faded in the fourth and lost 46 to 33.

The soldiers, two of whose stars had been detached for assignment to bigger jobs in the far west, led 12-7 at the end of the first period and were even at 21-21 at the half.

But when their center, Mark Haller, former Syracuse star, was ejected a few seconds after the start of the final period they faltered, scoring but three points in the final ten minutes.

Bernie Fowle led the triumphant Dukes with 13 points and Haller led the soldiers, who had won 13 straight before coming here, with 11.

The contest topped five clashes involving western Pennsylvania teams in which Carnegie Tech won its second one of the year by beating Thiel 49 to 41 at Greenville, the Indiana State Teachers noted out Clarion Teachers 41 to 38. Westminster gained revenge for a setback at Beaver Falls last week by beating Geneva at New Wilmington 40 to 31 and Shippory Rock steam-rolled over a tired but scrappy California Teachers outfit 65 to 30.

Thiel's setback was its second in seven games and came through a second half rally. Thiel led 25 to 22 at the half but was charged with 22 fouls out of which Tech turned 13 into valuable points.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, Feb. 4.—(P.)—Those capital city cuties who drew a congressman's romp and for not going to bed early now have 21 more good reasons to avoid staying at home evenings with a good book this summer.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, obtained permission from baseball's major league bosses yesterday for 21 after-dark contests to aid the war effort by bolstering Washington morale.

The remaining 15 big league clubs may play up to 11 games under the lights in their own parks. Griffith demanded 28 contests but the others opposed it. The compromise was made up by Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Not only did Griffith and his major league pals give the fans more night baseball but they extended the curfew as well. In the past no inning was allowed to start after 11:30. With the coming of wartime, universal daylight saving time, however, the rule was amended to read 12:30 a. m.

After their joint meeting with the American League bosses, the National League chieftains immediately began revising their schedule to accommodate the extra night games. Both leagues, however, retained Tuesday, April 14, as the starting date, with these pairings:

American League
New York at Washington.
Philadelphia at Boston.
Cleveland at Detroit.
St. Louis at Chicago.

National League
Brooklyn at New York.
Boston at Philadelphia.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.
Chicago at St. Louis.

It was also decided that all officials would accept 10 per cent of their salaries in defense bonds and stamps. It was recommended that the players do likewise. The athletes also will wear the red, white and blue insignia of the "Hale America" organization.

There was still no official explanation for the sudden British retreat after hurling the Germans back more than 350 miles from the Egyptian-Libyan frontier last month.

In the Ukraine, where the temperature hit 30 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, the Germans were pictured as trying to establish defense lines in streets and houses of towns—anywhere they could find shelter from the bitter cold.

Nazi occupational troubles flared again in Norway.
A Stockholm dispatch said Swedish newspaper advices from Oslo told of a wave of fires and bombings, attributed to Norwegian resentment over installation of Maj. Vidkun Quisling as puppet premier Sunday, affecting several factories, two railway stations and other strategic centers.

SERVICES FOR

FIRE VICTIM TO

BE ON THURSDAY

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Bracken-Keating Funeral Home in Corry for Michael Grexa, Brooks Rocks lad who died in the Corry hospital as the result of burns received in the burning of his home late Sunday night.

The father of the boy, Michael Grexa, Sr., was quoted in Corry today as advancing the opinion that the fire which completely destroyed his home might have been of incendiary origin, since several such fires have taken place in that vicinity.

As an alternative explanation, Mr. Grexa stated that his son might have arisen to build up the fire, leaving wood stacked against the stove.

Little hope was held for the boy's recovery, since he was very badly burned over a major portion of this body when the father returned from work about 1 a. m. on Monday to find the home in ruins and the lad lying on the floor of the barn.

Burma—A Tokyo broadcast said Japanese bombers, attacking by night, raided an airport at Rangoon and twice heavily bombed an airfield at Toungoo.

Philippines—A war department bulletin said Gen. Douglas MacArthur's hard-fighting troops sharply beat off another Japanese attack on the American left flank on Balan peninsula, the night of Feb. 2.

Australia—Australian bombers scored a direct hit on a big Japanese ship in the harbor of Japanese-occupied Rabaul, New Britain.

Latest dispatches from Singapore said there was still no outward sign that the Japanese were about to launch their expected assault across Johore Strait, with the invaders apparently resting and concentrating their forces.

On other fronts in the Far Pacific conflict:
Dutch East Indies—Dutch and Japanese troops were locked in heavy fighting on Ambon Island, site of the Indies' second biggest naval base, 635 miles north of Australia, an N. E. I. communique reported.

British North Borneo—Berlin quoted Imperial Tokyo headquarters as saying Japanese forces captured the Celebes sea port at Tawao, on the southeast coast of British Borneo.

Burma—A Tokyo broadcast said Japanese bombers, attacking by night, raided an airport at Rangoon and twice heavily bombed an airfield at Toungoo.

Philippines—A war department bulletin said Gen. Douglas MacArthur's hard-fighting troops sharply beat off another Japanese attack on the American left flank on Balan peninsula, the night of Feb. 2.

Australia—Australian bombers scored a direct hit on a big Japanese ship in the harbor of Japanese-occupied Rabaul, New Britain.

Latest dispatches from Singapore said there was still no outward sign that the Japanese were about to launch their expected assault across Johore Strait, with the invaders apparently resting and concentrating their forces.

Even the Berlin radio—for propaganda purposes undivided—hinted that a Singapore invasion attempt might end disastrously.

United States air and sea forces were expected in Washington to take an increasingly heavy toll of Japanese expeditions now threatening Java, the heart of the Netherlands East Indies.

ANNUAL DINNER OF CIVIC CLUB IS SUCCESSFUL

Approximately 150 men were in attendance at the North Warren Civic Club's annual banquet, held last evening at the Community House.

Principal speaker of the evening was "Dusty" Miller, of Wilmington, Ohio, who gave a fine talk on "Americanism," pointing out that among the many things the public should guard against are indecision, indifference and intolerance. His manner of illustrating each thought with a humorous story helped to emphasize the facts but did not detract from the point he was attempting to get across.

The fine dinner which started the evening was prepared and served by the North Warren Willing Workers.

Boyd Sanden, president of the Civic Club, announced the following committees for the March meeting: Entertainment—Joe Gardner and Gerald Wright; Hats—Tony Marasco and Robert Olskey.

A report on Civic Club activities in connection with the recent Red Cross drive for funds was read by Christian Pepke, chairman. He reported that the waste collection was far in excess of expectations and would be continued, with collections every Friday night. All money derived from this source will be turned back to the Red Cross in the following form: Ten dollars for each Jap battleship, five dollars for each destroyer, and $2.50 for each cruiser or submarine sunk by American fighting forces. Plans for a Red Cross dance also were discussed.

SUGAR GROVE ITEMS

Phyllis Mickleson reports for Sugar Grove 4-H members that sophomore students have completed their meal planning and preparation study and gave a luncheon with Margaret Fay, social studies and English teacher, as guest and Isabel Nelson as hostess. She reports five clothing exhibits from this group entered at the farm show and four awards received. Mercedes Andereg won second place with a wool dress which previously took first in the 4-H roundup, first and a bronze medal for 4-H Week, and first at the Youngsville and Sugar Grove fairs. Audrey Carlson won fourth prize for a white rayon blouse and Miriam Sward, second with a remodeled suit. The window display of junior and senior girls was given fourth place. In addition, two potato entries won awards and one boy exhibited prize-winning corn.

On February 2 the first group of junior and senior girls entered the home economics house for their three-weeks experience. They are Esther Hagberg, Pearl Curtis, Dorothy Coleman, Janet Mack and Phyllis Mickleson, with Kathryn Keslar, teacher, as supervisor. Other class members will continue projects in their homes. Regular home project work started includes baking for the Chancellors Valley school by Mary York, using surplus commodities supplied by the state, and refinishing and caring of chairs by Donna Thorpe. Red Cross activities at home economics house are increasing, also.

SOLITUDE

My first night all alone without you near me
And yet I feel your presence very near.

I feel your hands—I see the smile that cheered me
And I am not alone—for you are here.

Your Spirit presence circles all around me
And brightens up the seeming darkened way.
And I'll tread carefully the path before me,
For 'twill be lighted by your Spirit Ray.

When days were dark and crosses loomed before me
You had a way to clear the darkened day.
Your spoken words of confidence implored me
To leave the night and follow Love's bright way.

My dear, you have brought Heaven very near me,
Much nearer than I ever knew before;
Your steadfast Faith and Hope and Love now cheer me
And I now dedicate myself to serve HIM more.

Ethel Cable.

A SLAP FOR A SAP

The dirtiest, meanest trick I know happened in Pearl Harbor about a month ago.
Who would have thought the low-life scums,
Would turn on us, the peaceful bums!

But it takes all the things that nice folks won't be.
When the yellow-bellies come up from the sea—
And torpedoed our lifeboats and gunned our sails
Even the guy who stood in the gale!

It always takes the lowest cad
And by the — it makes me mad.
When I heard they even machine-gunned the people—
Coming home from the church with the beautiful steeple.

Their smiling, smirking, lying yes-men,
Should be sent to the chair with the worst of our henchmen.
But we know where they got the sail.
From a THING called HITLER, that is all!

OBSERVANCE OF ANNIVERSARY BY PASTORS HERE

Further discussion of plans for celebration of the 20th anniversary of the Warren County Ministerial Association during March occupied much of the time at this week's regular meeting.

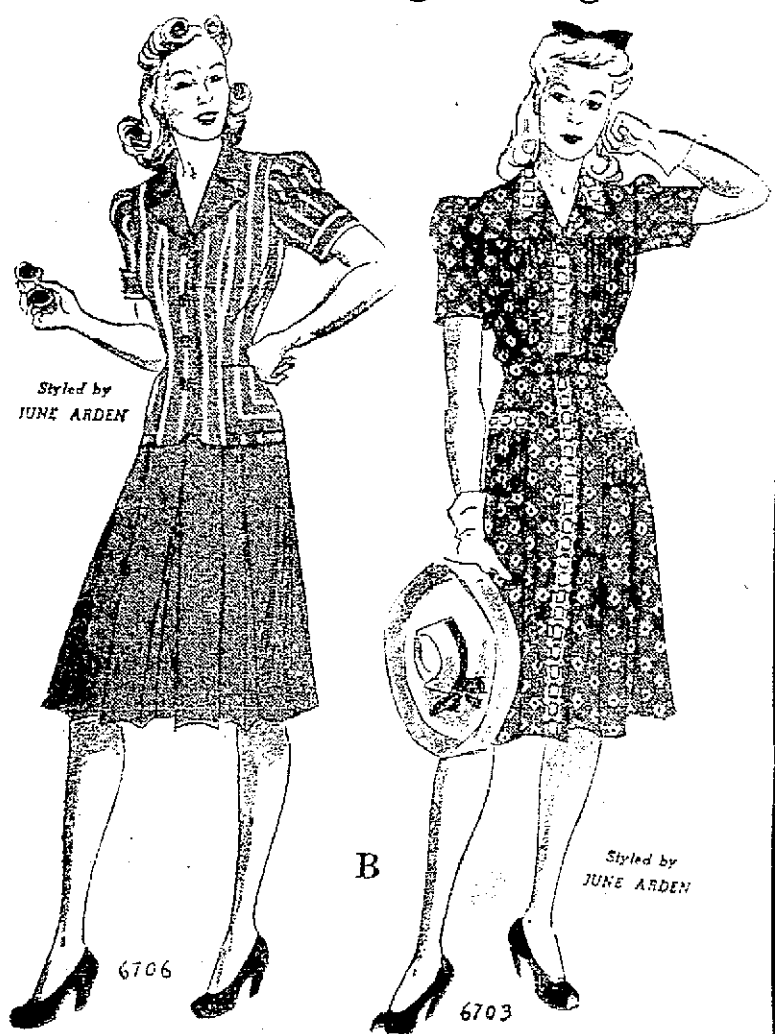

It was reported that in the earliest minutes of the society, dated September 19, 1921 and recorded by Rev. Raymond M. Kistler, mention was made of a motion to appoint a committee to draw up the constitution and by-laws for the county organization.

Rev. Carl Perrin, First Presbyterian pastor of Sugar Grove and Irvine, was in charge of Monday's devotional period, with a paper by Rev. Edward K. Rogers, First Lutheran pastor. This paper, "The Minister and His Study," outlined the minister's ideal study and what occurs in it.

During the business session, authorization was given for a committee to arrange for furnishing a church directory to hotels and hospitals of the community.
